FAQ FOR TEST RESULT REQUESTS

The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) released an update to the HIPAA Privacy Rule which governs the rights patients have to request information from certain health care facilities. This update became effective April 7, 2014. Below are some common questions patients have when requesting reports from GeneDx, with information on how the HIPAA Privacy applies to them.

Why is GeneDx asking me to submit a form?

GeneDx takes patient privacy seriously when we receive requests to release patient information. Accordingly, GeneDx needs to ask for certain information from the requesting individual in order to verify their identity, such as name, date of birth, and address of the individual being tested. We may require additional information, such as power of attorney, in some instances. Additionally, the form helps us to know where to send the requested information and allows us to better track your request.

When will my results be sent?

GeneDx will act on most patient requests in a timely manner, but no later than 30 days after we receive them, as required by the Privacy Rule. In very rare circumstances, it may take more than 30 days to release certain requested information, such as archived materials held in offsite storage. In such case, GeneDx will send you, within the original 30 day timeframe, a request for a 30-day extension as allowed by the Privacy Rule.

What if I send my request before testing is completed?

Requests received before testing is completed may not be able to be fulfilled. If the 30-day deadline is reached before testing has been completed, GeneDx will have no result report to release at the time we are required to do so. In such an instance, your request will be considered fulfilled with no report released. For this reason, we suggest submitting your request after the completion of testing.

I asked for my results to be emailed, but I have not received them. Were they missed?

GeneDx uses a secure email system to protect patient privacy. It may not be apparent that GeneDx is the sender of these emails and therefore, a secure email may be filtered into your junk email folders. We suggest checking your junk folder if you are expecting an emailed report. If it does not arrive by the deadline, or if you are having difficulty opening the secure email, please do not hesitate to contact us by phone (301-519-2100) or email (support@genedx.com).

Where can I read more about the HIPAA Privacy Rule mentioned here?

The United States Department of Health and Human Services website contains complete information concerning the Privacy Rule. Specifically, the page which concerns individuals' right to access their health information can be found at <http://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/for-professionals/privacy/guidance/access/>.
